One man described his life to Max Strom, founder of one of L.A.’s most renowned yoga centers, as follows: “In the morning, I can’t wake up; in the day, I am bored; in the evening, I am tired; and at night, I cannot sleep.” As a yoga teacher, Max understands that each person has his or her own struggles—that we set up our own roadblocks—and he could easily suggest poses or a physical practice to help find a life worth breathing. In this inspiring book, however, he looks beyond the often-written-about philosophies of yoga to what he sees as the purpose of this practice: to help with the journey within. Yoga offers the tools, but each person’s jail is a little different. He encourages readers to focus not on the tools, but on the endeavor. He reveals how to make changes in mind, body, and emotions simultaneously. The result is a new state of being: a life with meaning, a life full of love, a life worth breathing.

Max Strom founded and directed the renowned Sacred Movement Center for Yoga and Healing in Los Angeles. There he taught more than four hundred students each week for ten years, building the program into one of the most respected centers in the world. In 2005, he sold the studio to Exhale Spa, which continues to thrive. He now travels extensively. Last year he taught and lectured in more than thirty-five cities in nine countries. Max has been teaching since 1995 and is recognized by the Yoga Alliance at their Advanced Teacher Level (ERYT). He has taught tens of thousands of students; trained several hundred teachers; and recorded two videos, Learn to Breathe, to Heal Yourself and Your Relationships and Max Strom Yoga—Strength, Grace, Healing. He lives in in Ashland, Oregon.

“I love the energy and flow of Max Strom’s yoga classes . . . but perhaps above all, I respect his quiet strength and deep humility.”

Acclaimed historian Tim Newark tells the story of the Highlanders through the words of the soldiers themselves, from diaries, letters, and journals uncovered from archives in Scotland and around the world. At the Battle of Quebec in 1759, only a few years after their defeat at Culloden, the 78th Highlanders faced down the French guns and turned the battle. At Waterloo, Highlanders memorably fought alongside the Scots Greys against Napoleon’s feared Old Guard. In the Crimea, the thin red line stood firm against the charging Russian Hussars and saved the day at Balaclava.

Yet this story is also one of betrayal. At Quebec, General Wolfe remarked that, despite the Highlanders’ courage, it was “no great mischief if they fall.” At Dunkirk in May 1940, the 51st Regiment was left to defend the SOE evacuation at St Valery; though following D-Day, the Highlanders were at the forefront of the fighting through France. It is all history, now: Over the last decade the historic regiments have been dismantled, despite widespread protest.

Tim Newark is the editor of Military Illustrated, the leading British military history magazine. He is the author of numerous books, including The Mafia of War, and has written for the Financial Times and the Daily Telegraph. He lives in London, England.

“An impressively researched and immensely readable celebration of the Highland soldier.”

FINANCIAL SERIAL KILLERS
How to Madoff-Proof Your Finances

How to make sure you don’t fall victim to the next Bernie Madoff.

By using true tales of how thieves, con artists, and fraudsters work, Financial Serial Killers illustrates how fraud artists get their hooks into investors’ wallets, savings accounts, and portfolios—and never let go. Financial Serial Killers reveals the phony investment advisers and counselors who used cons—from the grand to picayune—to fleece investors. But what makes this book so important is its focus: Not just a look at the technical market data or complex trading strategies that many phony advisers claim will generate riches, this book is about the deep relationship the phony adviser creates with the victim that is essential to the fraud.

Take the story of the little old lady who invested with Warren Buffet, the richest man in America. After her husband died, she thought her family’s treasure of $24 million in stock controlled by Buffet was safe. It was, until a family relative introduced the eighty-nine-year-old grandmother to a pair of unscrupulous insurance agents. Such relationships are at the center of Financial Serial Killers. Readers will learn how to better protect their family’s wealth and treasure after reading this book.

Learn how to barter—today’s best currency—in this comprehensive, up-to-date guide.

Just because you don’t have cash doesn’t mean you don’t want and need things. According to authors and business gurus Karen Hoffman and Shera Dalin, it’s time to get a little creative. Most people have a skill they can use—it’s just a matter of figuring out what that is and how to use it to get something else. From piano lessons in exchange for haircuts to an engine tune-up in exchange for house painting, The Art of Barter offers step-by-step instructions in:

- Determining your “tradable” skills
- Initiating a trade
- Figuring out a fair exchange
- How to close a deal
- Incorporating barter into everyday life

In addition, the book is peppered with inspirational ideas on how to use barter in today’s tough economic world. Some potential readers might even figure out how to trade their local bookstore for a copy!

Karen Hoffman has twenty years of experience in the barter industry. She was a member of the Pay It Forward Foundation featured in the Kevin Spacey film, Pay It Forward, and executive director of the International Reciprocal Trade Association. She lives in St. Louis, Missouri.

Shera Dalin is a business journalist and has edited several business books. She is an adjunct professor of journalism at St. Louis University and lives in St. Louis, Missouri.

The economic future is uncertain. When adjusted for inflation, real wages have remained stagnant or fallen for six out of the past seven years. Personal bankruptcies are at an all-time high, and foreclosure rates continue to set new records. Peak oil looms on the horizon, and the cost of energy has driven food prices through the roof while deaths due to food contamination occur regularly. What can you do? This book is the answer.

Mini Farming describes a holistic approach to small-area farming that will show you how to produce 85 percent of an average family’s food on just a quarter acre—and earn $10,000 in cash annually while spending less than half the time that an ordinary job would require.

Even if you have never been a farmer or a gardener, this book covers everything you need to know to get started: buying and saving seeds, starting seedlings, establishing raised beds, soil fertility practices, composting, dealing with pest and disease problems, crop rotation, farm planning, and much more. Because self-sufficiency is the objective, subjects such as raising backyard chickens and home canning are also covered along with numerous methods for keeping costs down and production high. Materials, tools, and techniques are detailed with photographs, tables, diagrams, and illustrations.

Brett L. Markham is an engineer, third-generation farmer, and polymath. Using the methods explained in his book, he runs a profitable, Certified Naturally Grown mini farm on less than half an acre. Brett works full time as an engineer for a broadband ISP and farms in his spare time. His Web site is www.markhamfarm.com. He lives in New Ipswich, New Hampshire.
Meet John Richardson. A typical weekend golfer who enjoyed the game but couldn’t break 100. Married. One seven-year-old daughter. Full-time job. But he differed from the average 24-handicapper in one crucial way: He was determined to break par within a year at the local golf course, while working a demanding full-time job and trying his best to remain a good husband and father.

Virtually everyone he came across told him that it wasn’t possible. Famed Scottish golfer/commentator Sam Torrance advised John to “dream on,” and PGA Tour pro Darren Clarke told him that three years would be a more realistic time frame. Add to the mix a range of golfing injuries, family responsibilities, and a rigorous work schedule, and you can understand why there were so many doubters.

Dream On is the hilarious and inspiring story of how John achieved the seemingly impossible—from how the initial challenge took shape and the methods he used to dramatically improve his game, to that glorious day, less than one year later, when he broke par and played the best round of his life.

John Richardson worked for more than fifteen years in the coffee bar and restaurant industry, at one time running the largest sandwich business in Ireland. A keen golfer, he lives with his wife and daughter in Bangor, Northern Ireland.

“A great, heart-warming story . . . Read it and see how you can turn your golfing dreams into reality.”
—Irish Independent

“Whether you are a golfer or not, John’s story is a lesson for life.”

COUNTRY COOKING
175 Fun and Flavorful Recipes for Breakfast, Lunch, and Dinner

The taste of Texas in your own kitchen.

Donald G. Lewis’s love of food began with his roots. He remembers picking berries for his mother to prepare special cobbler, and his grandmother churning butter while he sat on her porch swing. His love of those tastes led him to a career creating gourmet creations for customers locally in Texas and nationwide. His recipes reflect a sensibility that is time-tested, a love of fresh ingredients, and a creative spirit that allows him to add modern taste to traditional down-home flavor. Featuring recipes for every course of the meal, with an emphasis on spectacular desserts, Country Cooking brings the tastes of country to your table and will have your loved ones asking for them again and again.

DONALD G. LEWIS was steeped in the pleasures of great Southern cooking since he was a boy growing up on his family’s Texas ranch. Now through his café, catering, and gourmet foods business, he shares his culinary creations locally and nationwide. He lives in Athens, Texas.
A new book by Dave Whitlock, author of some of the best books on fly fishing ever written, is a reason for fly fishermen to celebrate—and the aim of this book is simple. Whitlock wants to take the guesswork out of fly fishing and pass on the wisdom he’s accumulated over decades on the water. Fly tying is broken down into simple steps, and Whitlock stays grounded in the practical importance and relevance of every fly in the book.

Anchored by Whitlock’s own beautiful illustrations, this book provides plenty of knowledge and excitement for those hours spent at home and off the water.

Dave Whitlock’s art and writing appear regularly in every major fly-fishing and outdoor publication, including Fly Fisherman, Trout Magazine, and Field & Stream. His books, including Dave Whitlock’s Guide to Aquatic Trout Foods and the L.L. Bean Fly Fishing Handbook, have helped educate hundreds of thousands of anglers. He lives in Welling, Oklahoma.

Trout Unlimited is dedicated to conserving, protecting, and restoring coldwater fisheries and their watersheds, so that robust populations of native and wild trout and salmon once again thrive within their North American range. TU’s 150,000 members, organized into roughly 400 chapters nationwide, are supported by a professional staff of more than one hundred. The organization brings to bear more than $25 million annually to ensure water quality at its sources, to expand recreational angling and related local economic benefits, and to guarantee that succeeding generations can enjoy healthy recreational angling for wild trout and salmon.

Engage in the life stories of fourteen people whose lives have been shaped by trees—featuring the true stories of a tree doctor, big tree hunter Will Blozan, Plant Amnesty’s pruner, and ninety-four-year-old logger Merve Wilkinson. Also interviewed is Vietnam veteran Bud Pearson, whose post-traumatic stress disorder found healing and acceptance as a wood carver in the wilds of Montana, as well as Andy Lipkis, founder of TreePeople, who has spent thirty-five years ripping up concrete in L.A. to plant over two million trees in an effort to stop flooding and reduce air pollution. Each tree keeper reveals the inspiration and organization behind their advocacy with detailed explanations and touching stories of how their lives have come to be shaped by the forests they are fighting to preserve. Keepers of the Trees includes stories from all over North America, including Vancouver, Chicago, L.A., and Montana.

This book includes one hundred color photographs of the tree keepers in action as well as diagrams illustrating the keepers’ work. These are inspirational stories of conservation, healing, passion, and advocacy for any classroom, conservationist, activist, and nature lover.

LEGENDS OF THE HUNT

Renowned artist John Seerey-Lester relives the most exciting adventures of the world’s greatest sportmen.

Never in the long history of sport and adventure has there been a book like Legends of the Hunt. In more than 80 stories and 120 paintings, renowned wildlife artist John Seerey-Lester takes you back to the 1850–1935 period, the “Golden Age” of hunting and exploration on three continents. Each exciting chapter in this beautiful, large-format book relives the fascinating and often life-threatening exploits of Theodore Roosevelt, Jim Corbett, Charles Sheldon, Carl Akeley, Bror Blixen, John Henry Patterson, and many others as they pursue dangerous game in the wildest and most remote parts of the world. This book is destined to become one of the most highly acclaimed sporting titles of the year.

Born in England, John Seerey-Lester has become one of the most acclaimed wildlife artists in the world. His art has been produced on numerous limited-edition prints—most of them sell-outs!—and his original paintings are in the White House, in museums around the world, and are in high demand by collectors. And now, thanks to Legends of the Hunt, Seerey-Lester will soon rank as one of the greatest sporting artists—ever.
ARE WE FLY FISHING YET?

William G. Tapply

A collection of fly-fishing stories from acclaimed novelist and outdoorsman, William G. Tapply.

“It’s been a lifelong, ever-expanding journey, with many big fish and faraway waters and dramatic moments . . . and yet I don’t think any of those moments or any of those places or fish has thrilled me any more than seeing the twitch of my fly line where it entered the muddy waters of my backyard pond . . .”

In this collection of fly-fishing stories from acclaimed novelist and outdoor writer William G. Tapply, the natural appeal of fly fishing comes to life. Each story in Are We Fly Fishing Yet? was previously published in Tapply’s back-page column, “Reading the Currents” in American Angler, or in Gray’s Sporting Journal, or in Field & Stream. From “Dam It” to “First Light” to “When Trout Get Antsy,” these thirty re-readable pieces are unique in their own ways, and yet, all are classic Tapply. These writings serve as testament to the thrill of fishing, the inimitable energy of casting at daybreak, and the innocence of streamside summers.

WILLIAM G. TAPPLY was the author of more than twenty mystery novels, including the popular Brady Coyne series and nearly a dozen highly praised books on hunting and fishing. He was a professor of English at Clark University. He passed away in July 2009.

VOICES OF THE FOREIGN LEGION
The French Foreign Legion in Its Own Words

From the archives of the British War Museum, a complete history of the most exciting and brutal fighting force in the world.

The French Foreign Legion has established a reputation as the most formidable of military forces. Created as a means of protecting French interests abroad, the legion spearheaded French colonialism in North Africa during the nineteenth century. Accepting volunteers from all parts of the world, the legion acquired an aura of mystery—and a less than enviable reputation for brutality within its ranks. Attracting recruits from all over the world, these new soldiers explain in their own words why they submitted themselves to such brutal training.

Voices of the Foreign Legion looks at how the legion selects its recruits, where they come from, and why they seek a life of incredible hardship and danger. It also analyzes the legion’s strict attitude toward discipline, questions why desertion is a perennial problem, and assesses the legion’s military achievements since its formation in 1831. Its scope ranges from the conquest of the colonies in Africa and the Far East, through the horrors of the two World Wars, to the bitter but ultimately hopeless battles to maintain France’s imperial possessions.

Adrian D. Gilbert is a writer and editorial consultant specializing in military and historical subjects. He has contributed to several military TV documentaries and written for a variety of publications including Time Out and The Guardian. He lives in the UK.

ESCAPE FROM THE THIRD REICH

The Harrowing True Story of the Largest Rescue Effort Inside Nazi Germany

A World War II escape story, as exciting as a Hollywood movie.

The Swedish Red Cross expedition to the German concentration camps from March to April 1945 was the largest rescue effort inside Germany during WWII. Led by Count Bernadotte of Wisborg, the mission became known for its distinctive buses: Each bus was purposefully painted entirely white except for the Red Cross emblem on the side so that they would not be mistaken for military targets. According to conservative figures in May 1945, at least 17,000 prisoners were transported to Sweden by these white buses.

In this first book to detail this remarkable and hazardous operation, and with never-before-published photographs of the bus journeys, the details of Bernadotte’s harrowing expedition to Ravensbruck concentration camp and his secret negotiations with Heinrich Himmler are revealed.

Sune Persson is the senior lecturer at the Department of Political Science, University of Göteborg, Sweden.

THE KING OF STING

The Amazing True Story of a Modern American Outlaw

“A high-flying, adrenaline-filled story with the feel of the movie The Sting.” —Booklist

Craig Glazer was an ordinary college student when he planned and successfully executed his first fake sting to get back at some drug dealers who had robbed him. The rush he got from the experience led him and a crew of 11 accomplices to mastermind a two-year, 33-sting spree that stretched coast to coast, posing as everything from local police to IRS agents and hotel managers.

Glazer and Donald Woodbeck, his partner in crime, sniffed out some of the most sought-after drug lords in the country for the FBI and DEA like bloodhounds. For a while, the plan worked—until Craig’s world came crashing down.

Craig Glazer now lives a “quiet” life. He is widely known as the owner of Stanford and Sons, the top comedy club in Kansas City, his hometown.

Sal Manna has been a freelance writer for nearly three decades, with publications in Time, Playboy, People and the Los Angeles Times among others. He lives in Valley Springs, California.

In 1984, John Thompson was convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of a prominent white man in New Orleans, Louisiana. He was sent to Angola Prison and confined to his cell for twenty-three hours a day. However, Thompson adamantly proclaimed his innocence and just needed lawyers who believed that his trial had been mishandled and would step up to the plate against the powerful DA’s office. But who would fight for Thompson’s innocence when he didn’t have an alibi for the night of the murder and there were two key witnesses to confirm his guilt?

Killing Time is about the eighteen-year quest for Thompson’s freedom from a wrongful murder conviction. After Philadelphia lawyers Michael Banks and Gordon Cooney take on his case, they struggle to find areas of misconduct in his previous trials while grappling with their questions about Thompson’s innocence. John Hollway and Ronald M. Gauthier have interviewed Thompson and the lawyers, and paint a realistic and compelling portrait of life on death row and the corruption in the Louisiana police and DA’s office. When it is found that evidence was mishandled in a previous trial that led to his death sentence in the murder case, Thompson is finally on his road to freedom—a journey that continues with his suit against Harry Connick, Sr. and the New Orleans DA’s office to this day.

John Hollway is an attorney and writer who has worked both in a federal prosecutor’s office and as a defense attorney in state and federal courts. He is currently based in San Francisco, California. This is his first book.

Ronald M. Gauthier is a library branch manager in Gwinnett Country, Georgia, and once served as an adult literacy instructor for the Louisiana prison system and a social services counselor. He is the author of Hard Time on the Bayou, a prison novel based on his experiences working in corrections. He currently resides in Atlanta, Georgia.

Parents of children coping with autism spectrum disorders may feel like they face more questions than answers. While little is truly understood of autism, many parents rely on behavioral therapies to improve their child’s quality of life and encourage independence.

First in what will be an annually updated handbook, Ken Siri and Tony Lyons delve into cutting-edge, hands-on therapies that go beyond the diet-behavior connection, nutrition supplements, and medical treatment.

Readers of Cutting-Edge Therapies for Autism, 2010–2011 will come away with a wealth of meaningful knowledge and coping mechanisms to employ: Learn how animal-assisted therapy such as horseback-riding advances developmental growth; art therapy such as finger-painting encourages self-expression; and floor-time play therapy such as puzzle-solving teaches turn-taking and environmental awareness. Social skills therapies, speech and language therapies, and even music therapy are also explored in this volume.

Ken Siri is a freelance writer who lives in New York City. As the father of an autistic son, Ken is constantly searching the globe for therapies that might work.

Tony Lyons is a publisher, has practiced law, and is raising two daughters, including one who is autistic. He lives in New York City.
Up to the last moment, his overwhelming, despotic authority aroused false hopes and deceived his people and his entourage. Only at the end, when I watched the inglorious collapse and the obstinacy of his final downfall, was I able suddenly to fit together the bits of mosaic I had been amassing for twelve years into a complete picture of his opaque and sphinx-like personality. If my contemporaries fail to understand me, those who came after will surely profit from this account.”

—Otto Dietrich

When Otto Dietrich was invited in 1933 to become Adolf Hitler’s press chief, he accepted with the simple uncritical conviction that Adolf Hitler was a great man, dedicated to promoting peace and welfare for the German people. At the end of the war, imprisoned and disillusioned, Otto Dietrich sat down to write what he had seen and heard in twelve years of the closest association with Hitler, requesting that it be published after his death.

Dietrich’s role placed him in a privileged position. He was hired by Hitler in 1933, was his confidant until 1945, and he worked—and clashed—with Joseph Goebbels. His direct, personal experience of life at the heat of the Reich makes for compelling reading.

OTTO DIETRICH was the Third Reich’s press chief from 1933 to 1945. He was tried at Nuremberg and sentenced to seven years in prison, where he wrote his memoirs. He died in 1952 at the age of fifty-five.

ROGER MOOREHOUSE is a leading expert on the Third Reich and is the author of Killing Hitler: The Third Reich and the Plots against the Führer.
I n a startlingly innovative format, journalist Stephen A. Wynalda has constructed a painstakingly detailed day-by-day breakdown of president Abraham Lincoln’s decisions in office—including his signing of the Homestead Act on May 20, 1862; his signing of the legislation enacting the first federal income tax on August 5, 1861; and more personal incidents like the day his eleven-year-old son, Willie, died. Revealed are Lincoln’s private frustrations on September 28, 1862, as he wrote to vice president Hannibal Hamlin, “The North responds to the [Emancipation] proclamation sufficiently with breath; but breath alone kills no rebels.”

366 Days in the Life of Abraham Lincoln includes fascinating facts like how Lincoln hated to hunt but loved to fire guns near the unfinished Washington monument, how he was the only president to own a patent, and how he recited Scottish poetry to relieve stress. As Scottish historian Hugh Blair said, “It is from private life, from familiar, domestic, and seemingly trivial occurrences, that we most often receive light into the real character.”

Covering 366 days (including leap day) of Lincoln’s presidency, this is a rich, exciting new perspective of our most famous president. This is a must-have edition for any historian, military history or civil war buff, or reader of biographies.

“I can say that I feel a special gratitude to this singular figure who in so many ways made my own story possible—and who in so many ways made America’s story possible.”

BEEKEEPING
Self-Sufficiency

While beekeeping is about managing, controlling, and understanding the honey bee, there is also the pleasure that can be found in harvesting and eating your own honey—a true delight! All aspects of beekeeping are explained inside this book: the basic tools and equipment needed, detailed advice on when to harvest honey, and the many tasty things you can make. This is an essential guide for anyone interested in learning more about beekeeping.

JOANNA RYDE became interested in beekeeping after observing an abandoned hive in her uncle’s garden. She currently keeps an apiary of four hives.

KEEPING CHICKENS

Self-Sufficiency

This handbook provides an introduction to some of the key aspects of raising chickens. You don’t need a large space to raise and keep chickens, and most families find that they only need a couple of hens to keep them stocked with fresh eggs year-round. Packed full of information on the basic housing costs and requirements, food and water requirements, disease prevention, and breeding—this book also includes a comprehensive section on the breeds available, their specific requirements, and a list of resources.

Mike Hatcher holds a qualification in poultry husbandry from the Royal Agricultural College and is the president of the Poultry Club of Great Britain.

Rita Ash

CHEESE MAKING

Self-Sufficiency

You do not need to be scientifically trained or an accomplished cook to make cheese at home. The information here covers every aspect of cheesemaking at home, including the tools and equipment needed and basic recipes and advice on setting up a small cheesemaking business. Rita Ash shows just how simple it is to make cheese, and how, with a little bit of care and attention, anyone can produce delicious cheeses at home.

Rita Ash has been making cheese, teaching others to make cheese, and facilitating small-scale commercial cheese-making enterprises for over thirty years, both in the United Kingdom and other parts of the world.

SPINNING, DYING & WEAVING

Self-Sufficiency

Weaving your own textiles is a rewarding activity—with the added benefit of knowing that the entire process can be done by hand, with little outside energy. This handbook looks at where different fibers come from, how to grow and harvest them, and how to prepare them for spinning. The principles of spinning are also included, as well as information on how to dye your fibers with natural dyestuff. Also included are numerous simple projects for decorating your home.

Penny Walsh teaches and researches traditional techniques of dyeing and spinning, using ecologically sound ingredients and renewable sources.

SERIOUS SURVIVAL

How to Poo in the Arctic and Other Essential Tips

Learn how to survive in the world’s most inhospitable places.

Serious Survival is the essential guide for what you absolutely need to know before you visit out-of-the-way places. This is not a collection of requirements for traveling in the world’s most inhospitable places. Rather, it is a compilation of first-hand experiences of the BBC’s Serious Survival teams over the past six years—expeditions that have faced nearly every inhospitable habitat. For every budding traveler and explorer, Serious Survival is the most essential advice on what to do to ensure that you come back in one piece.

Marshall Corwin is an Emmy Award–winning British television producer and produces the multi–award winning BBC TV series, Serious Survival. He has also written and co-written several children’s books.

Bruce Parry is a TV host and adventurer. He was involved in the BBC and Discovery Channel documentary Going Tribal. He is the founder of Endeavor Productions and lives in England.
The twenty-first-century sniper is a mature, intelligent shooter who leverages technology to his deadly advantage. He has spent thousands of hours honing his skills. He is a master of concealment in all environments, from the mountains of Afghanistan to the crowded streets of Iraq. He is trained in science and left alone to create the unique art of the kill. To the sniper, the battlefield is like a painter’s blank canvas. It is his job to simultaneously utilize tools, training, and creativity to deliver devastating psychological impact upon the battlefield. And it is he alone who is left with the intimacy of the kill.

A complete practical guide for any modern sniper, former Navy SEAL and military sniper Brandon Webb reveals the tips and basic training necessary to become an efficient marksman. Webb is an international authority on sniping, and after serving multiple missions in Iraq and Afghanistan, he ran the Navy SEAL sniper course, which is arguably the best sniper qualification course in the world.

Including details on advanced sniper training for maritime, helicopter, and urban sniper operations, The Sniper Manual also touches on the latest research, development, testing, and evaluation of sniper weapons systems and optics. From trajectories and wind speed to camouflage and best vantage points and targets, Webb covers everything an expert sniper needs to know. This book is suitable for gun enthusiasts, outdoorsmen, the beginning sniper, and those with military backgrounds.

Brandon Webb is a retired U.S. Navy SEAL. As a SEAL, he developed a niche as a sniper, and his career involved combat deployments to Iraq, Afghanistan, and elsewhere. He is most notably known for his work in running the Navy SEAL sniper course. His heavily promoted first novel, SEAL Sniper is due for publication in 2010. He lives in La Jolla, California.

FIREARMS, TRAPS, AND TOOLS OF THE MOUNTAIN MEN
A Guide to the Equipment of the Trappers and Fur Traders Who Opened the Old West

An illustrated history of the weapons, tools, and techniques of the legendary American frontiersmen.

This classic, scholarly history of the fur trappers and traders of the early nineteenth century focuses on the devices that enabled the opening of the untracked American west. Sprinkled with interesting facts and old western lore, this guide to traps and tools is also a lively history. The era of the mountain man is distinct in American history, and Russell’s exhaustive coverage on the guns, traps, knives, axes, and other iron tools of this era, along with meticulous appendices, is astonishing. The result of thirty-five years of painstaking research, this is the definitive guide to the tools of the mountain men.

Carl P. Russell (1894–1967) was a conservationist with a PhD from the University of Michigan and was the author of a number of books including One Hundred Years in Yosemite and Guns on the Early Frontiers. He was superintendent of Yosemite National Park from 1947 to 1952.

Two highly respected outdoor journalists, Kirk Deeter of Field & Stream and Charlie Meyers of the Denver Post, have cracked open their notebooks and shared straight-shot advice on the sport of fly fishing, based on a range of new and old experiences—from interviews with the late Lee Wulff to travels with maverick guides in Tierra del Fuego.

The mission of The Little Red Book of Fly Fishing is to demystify and un-complicate the tricks and tips that make a great trout fisher. There are no complicated physics lessons here. Rather, conceived in the “Take dead aim” spirit of Harvey Penick’s classic instructional on golf, The Little Red Book of Fly Fishing offers a simple, digestible primer on the basic elements of fly fishing: the cast, presentation, reading water, and selecting flies. In the end, this collection of 240 tips is one of the most insightful, plainly spoken, and entertaining works on this sport—one that will serve both novices and experts alike in helping them reflect and hone in their approaches to fly fishing.

Charlie Meyers is the outdoors editor for the Denver Post and has been covering various fishing and hunting angles for that newspaper since 1966. He is editor-at-large for Angling Trade. He has also contributed a great many fishing-related stories to magazines including Field & Stream, Outdoor Life, Fly Fisherman, Flyfishing in Salt Waters, Southwest Fly Fishing, The Drake, and many others. He lives in Golden, Colorado.

Kirk Deeter is an editor-at-large for Field & Stream magazine and co-editor of its Fly Talk weblog. He is also the editor-in-chief of Angling Trade and senior editor of the Flyfish Journal. His stories have appeared in Garden & Gun, The Drake, 5280, Fly Rod & Reel, Fly Fisherman, Big Sky Journal, SaltWater Sportsman, and Trout, among other places. He lives in Pin, Colorado.
Henry Morgenthau, Jr. was a young man living in an interesting political and social atmosphere. Surrounded by people who viewed the world through a Social Darwinist lens, and grappling with his identity as an American Jew during the atrocities of WWII in Europe, Henry Morgenthau, Jr. played an integral role as Roosevelt’s secretary of the treasury during a tough economic and political time.

_Henry Morgenthau, Jr._ explores the life of this native New Yorker, growing up in a business-minded family, spending most of his teenage years at boarding school, and feeling isolated from his peers. Morgenthau found true passion in farming, and it served him well during the years that FDR was governor of New York and again after Morgenthau’s retirement from political life. Morgenthau established not only a working relationship with FDR during his presidency, but also a personal relationship, one that allowed him some freedom of expression in what he viewed as a sometimes intolerant era.

Herbert Levy has done extensive research at the archives in Hyde Park to include many of Morgenthau’s personal letters in this in-depth account of the man who crafted a controversial plan for the reconstitution of Germany. This book explores the complex and oftentimes frustrating world in which Morgenthau was forced to live and illuminates his odyssey as a Roosevelt technocrat.

_Herbert Levy_ was born in Brooklyn, NY and served in the U.S. Naval Reserve during WWII. After the war, he obtained a law degree and worked for the Department of Housing and Urban Development from for over twenty-five years. He later worked as an administrative law judge for the State of New York, retiring in 2006. He’s written articles for _The Journal of Housing_ and the _New York State Bar Journal_, and served as editor for Alexander Kraushar’s book, _Jacob Frank: The End To the Sabbataian Heresy_. He and his wife, Barbara, currently reside in New York City.
Gary Player

DON’T CHOKE
A Champion’s Guide to Winning Under Pressure

“Gary, as much as anyone I ever saw, has that thing inside him that champions have.” —Jack Nicklaus

Gary Player is one of golf’s greatest champions. As one of the “Big Three” of golf’s golden era (with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer), he helped launch golf as a major international sport. He sits fourth on the list of most major victories on the PGA Tour and built a reputation of being fearless on the course and steely on the greens. Don’t Choke is his look at what it takes to achieve success when the pressure is on. Player explains how and why he became a champion and what it takes to win in big-time golf, but he also explains how learning to cope in pressure situations can help anyone. He will review the most pressure-packed situations in his eighteen major victories and how he managed to succeed when things were most tense.

But this book is not all about golf. Player has had a long successful career in business since his playing days—designing golf courses, marketing golf equipment and sportswear, and more. If you want to do better in a boardroom or in your next job interview, Player’s advice will help. This personal glimpse into the mind of a champion offers lessons to everyone who has to face pressure—and today that is all of us.

Gary Player is considered one of the greatest golfers of all time, having eighteen major wins, nine on the PGA Tour and the other nine on the PGA Champions Tour. He is also considered the most accomplished international golfer of all time, winning 164 tournaments around the globe over five decades. Born in South Africa, he lives in The Cliffs, South Carolina.

Kids look up to their dads. Dads have to be able to break in a new baseball glove (and to know which glove is age-appropriate), to answer every question imaginable (why is a football called a pigskin?), to teach their child how to throw a knuckleball, skate backwards on hockey skates, or spin a basketball on one fingertip. When it comes to sports, dads are expected to know and do everything. Such an amazing dad is rare. For the rest of us, there’s Cool Sports Dad.

Cool Sports Dad is packed full of mini essays about sports by the world’s most knowledgeable experts. The contributors to Cool Sports Dad range from instantly recognizable All-Star names like Jerome Bettis and David Wright to the next generation of extreme athletes like BMX biker and 2005 X Games silver medalist Scotty Cranmer and Bassmasters fishing champion Kevin Van Dam. All have been chosen for inclusion because they are at the very top of their profession, be it baseball, basketball, football, BMX racing, or even fishing. Fathers may not know everything, but with Cool Sports Dad on-hand they can give the impression they do.

David Fischer has written numerous books on sports for adults and young readers, including Greatest Sports Rivalries, The 50 Coolest Jobs in Sports, and Do Curve Balls Really Curve? He has written for the New York Times and Sports Illustrated for Kids, and has worked for Sports Illustrated, NBC Sports, and the National Sports Daily. He was presented a Distinguished Achievement Award for Excellence in Educational Publishing in 1998. David lives in River Vale, New Jersey with his wife Carolyn and children Rachel and Jack. He has been a cool sports dad for fifteen years.
For some, nothing is as pleasurable as the smell and taste of a great cigar. For them, Playboy The Book of Cigars will be the next best thing to lighting up. Whether you want to learn the finer points of cutters, cutting, or humidors, or want to understand more about how fine tobacco is grown and fine cigars rolled, it’s all here for you. Learn why Cuban cigars are so sought-after, what fine cigars from the Dominican Republic and Honduras have to offer, and whether cigars from Cameroon and the Canary Islands are worth your time.

With a foreword by artist and bon vivant LeRoy Neiman and an afterword by award-winning actor Joe Mantegna, there is more than a touch of the good life here. Sprinkled with photographs from around the world, enlivened by sexy Playboy beauties, and featuring illustrated images of celebrities by Risko, there has never been a cigar book offering more of the good life than Playboy The Book of Cigars. It’s the perfect book to keep next to your humidor.

Sure, everyone gets sick sometimes, but do you realize that plenty of those folks also die slow, unpleasant deaths from diseases that stumped even the experts at top-notch (still privately run) hospitals? That’s right: There are plenty of illnesses that even physicians have never heard about. Nodding Disease, Alice in Wonderland Syndrome, and Cutaneous Horn (yes, you grow a horn) are all featured here in pithy, energetic entries. You won’t have to worry about socialized medicine if you have this book—even if your doc could see you within a month, you might die due to his ignorance. Lucky for you and your loved ones, Ian Landau (who has no medical training but is a hell of a researcher) includes:

- Descriptions of each disease
- Background and history
- How to diagnose yourself and others
- Suggested treatments
- Prevention methods

The book is not for the faint of heart, as it probably could cause cardiac arrest. (And you ain't coming back from that without Ian's help.)

IAN LANDAU is a freelance writer, most recently working as the editorial director for the Parade Magazine Web site. He lives in Brooklyn, New York.
Chock-full of jokes and entertaining twists of the tongue, this lighthearted but scholarly guide to humorous language is a surefire hit with word lovers. The examples are entertainingly bawdy, with a delightful narrative voice in word sleuth and author, Jim Bernhard. He provides examples and puzzles, teaching a smidgen of historical and etymological scholarship, but above all, amusing his audience.

Puns from Greek dramatists, Shakespeare, the Bible, George S. Kaufman, and Groucho Marx vie for attention with comical spoonerisms, droll malapropisms, witty anagrams, and humorous palindromes—plus original material by the author—including limericks, clerihews, crossword puzzles, acrostic puzzles, tongue-twisters, and other kinds of word play. Some examples:

- Why does a match box? Because it sees a tin can.
- Time flies like an arrow. Fruit flies like a banana.
- The pony was unable to talk because he was a little hoarse.
- Two peanuts went into a bar. One was a salted.
- The chicken that crossed the road was pure poultry in motion.
- As the gardener said when asked why he was cutting grass with a pair of scissors: “That’s all there is; there isn’t any mower.”

Jim Bernhard has written other books, including the acclaimed Porcupine, Picayune, & Post: How Newspapers Get Their Names and Stars in Your Eyes. His puzzles have been published in the New York Times, Performing Arts Magazine, and Simon & Schuster puzzle books. He lives in Houston, Texas.

For the first-time horse owner, My First Book of Horses guides young equestrians through this very important—and fun—commitment. Beginning with a history of horses and what roles they’ve played throughout history, readers will get a full-color glimpse of horses with knights in full armor, as companions to the Native Americans, in formal dressage competitions, racing, and as a mode of early transportation.

This book then delves into all the need-to-know horse basics, including:

- How to identify all the most popular breeds of horses (including the Shetland pony, Arab, Tinker, Fjord horse, and American Quarter horse)
- Advice on tips on keeping a healthy, happy horse
- A step-by-step mane- or tail-braiding guide, grooming your horse, and cleaning up after your horse (yes, it must be done!)
- The details of horse equipment: saddles, horseshoes, boots, gloves, and helmets
- A full glossary of horse terminology so that you can speak the equine lingo confidently

If you or your children love horses, this book is for you!

Ingrid Andersson has written five books for children. She lives in Sweden.

Lena Furberg’s illustrations of horses have appeared in children’s books and comics. She lives in Sweden.

Marie Paulsson-Bertmar is a professional photographer who specializes in horse photography. She lives in Sweden.
Why does a rolling ball stop rolling? Why doesn’t the sun burn out? Why can’t you unscramble an egg? Why can’t we live forever? These are all questions that a curious kid might ask. In What’s the BIG Idea?, renowned juvenile science educator Vicki Cobb answers these and thirty-one other fascinating questions to help kids learn more about the world through the wonders of science.

A big idea is one that has no simple or easy answer, and there are four big ideas in this book: motion, energy, matter, and life. The motion of nonliving objects—rolling balls, falling stones, the moon and stars—seems so ordinary and familiar that most people take it for granted. Matter, on the other hand, comes in so many different forms—solids, liquids, gases, metals, nonmetals, living material—it is hard to imagine anything that all matter has in common. Energy is an idea that is in the news just about every day, yet most people couldn’t tell you what the big idea of energy is. And life seems mind-boggling and infinitely complicated. How do we bend our brains around it?

Scientists learn by asking questions. And What’s the BIG Idea? is designed to make young readers stop and think about each of the thirty-five questions before reading what scientists have learned that answers each question. They’ll be able to do simple things to see for themselves and build their own scientific knowledge in the process. By the time they’ve finished this book, they’ll have a pretty good idea of what science is all about.

Vicki Cobb is the well-known author of more than eighty-five highly entertaining nonfiction books for children, including Bet You Can’t, which won the New York Academy of Sciences Children’s Science Book Award. Cobb’s lighthearted approach to hands-on science has become her trademark for getting kids involved in experiences that create real learning. She lives in White Plains, New York. From the bestselling and controversial writers who inspired The Da Vinci Code comes the latest in religious conspiracies.

Secret societies, famous scientists, ancient Egyptian mysticism, and a fascinating addition to the god-versus-science debate: the Catholic Church. By the bestselling authors of The Templar Revelation and Mary Magdalene, The Hermetic Conspiracy reveals how the foundations of modern science were based around a desire to destroy the church. The great pioneering scientists of the Renaissance and the early Enlightenment (including Copernicus, Galileo, and Sir Isaac Newton) were fervent devotees of the philosophical/mystical system of Hermeticism. Many of the most important scientists of this age, including Galileo, belonged to a secret society called the Giordanisti, whose agenda was to overthrow the Church and establish a new age of Hermetic supremacy.

LYNN PICKNETT and CLIVE PRINCE are writers, researchers, and lecturers on the paranormal, the occult, and historical and religious mysteries. They are the bestselling authors of The Templar Revelation: Secret Guardians of the True Identity of Christ, Mary Magdalene, and Turin Shroud: In Whose Image? Picknett and Prince both had a cameo in the film The Da Vinci Code. They live in London, England.

Praise for the authors’ previous bestseller
The Templar Revelation:

“The great enigmas of The Da Vinci Code emerged from the pages of this book.”
—Javier Sierra, author of The Secret Supper

“One of the key books in The Da Vinci Code’s bibliography.”

Dave “Bio” Baranek

TOPGUN DAYS

Dogfighting, Cheating Death, and Hollywood Glory as One of America’s Best Fighter Jocks

A former top gun pilot and instructor recounts his flyboy days, including his experience working on the Hollywood blockbuster, Top Gun.

Dave Baranek (callsign “Bio”) was one of 850 young men to receive his Wings of Gold in 1980 as a naval flight officer. Four years later, seasoned by intense training and deployments in the tense confrontations of the cold war, he became the only one of that initial group to rise to become an instructor at the Navy’s elite Fighter Weapons School. As a TOPGUN instructor, Bio was responsible for teaching the navy’s and Marine Corps’ best fighter pilots how to be even better. He schooled them in the classroom and then went head-to-head with them in the skies.

Then, in August 1985, Bio was assigned to combine his day-to-day flight duties with participation in a Pentagon-blessed project to film action footage for a major Hollywood movie focusing on the lives, loves, heartbreaks, and triumphs of young fighter pilots, titled Top Gun.

Bio soon found himself riding in limousines to attend gala premieres, and being singled out by giggling teenagers and awed schoolboys who recognized the name “Topgun” on his T-shirts. The book ends with his reflections on his career as a skilled naval aviator and his enduring love of flight.

Dave “Bio” Baranek enjoyed a successful and satisfying twenty-year career in the United States Navy, starting with assignments to F-14 Tomcat squadrons and later assignment to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Baranek retired from the navy in 1999 and now works as a defense contractor in the Washington, D.C. area. He lives in Burke, Virginia. Learn more about Baranek at http://members.cox.net/topgun-bio.

I KILL

“In my neck of the woods, people like Faletti are called ‘larger than life’ living legends.”
—Jeffery Deaver, bestselling author, The Bone Collector

A detective and an FBI agent embark upon the most harrowing case of their careers as they attempt to track down an enigmatic killer in this relentlessly suspenseful thriller. The killer announces his heinous acts in advance with desperate phone calls and ties his crimes together with songs that point to his victims. He then mutilates them and removes their faces.

Set in Monte Carlo and featuring an international cast of intriguing characters, the hunt for the deranged perpetrator remains gripping and unsettling—even more so after the killer’s identity is revealed and the detectives must close in on their target before he strikes again.

Vividly written, this international bestseller presents a major talent to the American market for the first time, providing its audience with a memorably horrific thrill that may ultimately prove unshakable.

Giorgio Faletti has been declared the best living Italian writer by Corriere della Sera, the most popular and highest-selling Italian newspaper. He lives in Italy.

“A bestseller across Europe, Italian author Faletti’s first novel is a top-notch thriller.”
—Booklist

“Well-constructed serial killer novel set in glitzy Monte Carlo.”

One of the best mountaineers of our generation finally reveals the details of his many exciting extreme alpine ascents—ascents in which his only equipment is a pair of shoes and a small bag for holding chalk. Clinging to the crevasses in mountain walls, with muscles bulging as he makes his free ascent, Huber has become one of the world’s most recognized and photographed extreme alpine climbers. Along with many other legendary ascents detailed here, he and his brother set a new record of 2 hours and 46 minutes on El Capitan, The Nose, Yosemite Park in the Fall of 2007—a climb that usually takes three days.

When he free-soloed the Kommunist’s famous peaks, Alexander Huber declared, “Why? For me, it is the search for my limits. On the other side, I am aware that the time is limited.” With major corporate sponsors like Adidas and Atmoic, this is a fascinating insight into one of the world’s best mountaineers.

Alexander Huber is a German physicist, a climber, and mountaineer. Since 1992, Alexander Huber has been a state-certified mountain and skiing guide. He first studied physics, then became a full-time professional mountaineer in 1997 and is now one of the most successful climbers and mountaineers. Alexander is most famous for his bold free ascents of big walls. He lives in Traunstein, Germany.

“Alexander Huber, currently the best of all rock climbers, has free-soloed with only a chalk bag and rock shoes on his feet. A brilliant deed, which can hardly be surpassed in elegance. With this, Huber shows that he isn’t a gambler, but a great master.”
—Reinhold Messner, the world’s greatest mountain climber

“Thomas and Alexander Huber are among the best climbers of our time. They prove their skills through spectacular first-time, speed and free solo visits. They decorate the world’s front pages of climbing magazines.”
—German sports minister, Siegfried Schneider

THE HORSEMAN’S BOOK OF BITS

What They Are, What They Do, and How They Work

Everything a rider needs to know about bits and how they work.

The hundreds of available bits and their variations present a bewildering choice to a rider looking for the most effective way of controlling and communicating with a horse. However, help is now available in this most authoritative and up-to-date work. In an increasingly sophisticated horse world that blurs the line between English and Western tack, this book answers questions for horsemen who are involved in all English and Western equestrian activities. Most usefully, the reader learns not only how snaffles, curbs, pelhams, and other “mouthware” operate, but also how specific ones can be used to correct problems arising out of both competitive and pleasure riding.

EMILY ESTERSON, a career journalist, has contributed articles to Dressage Today, Equus, John Lyons’s Perfect Horse, Equestrian, and Equine Veterinary Management. She edits EquiManagement: Business Solutions for Equine Practitioners. An active dressage and three-day eventing competitor, Esterson lives in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

J. Wayne Fears

HOW TO BUILD YOUR DREAM CABIN IN THE WOODS

The Ultimate Guide to Building and Maintaining a Backcountry Getaway

Whether you want a fishing cabin or a “green” country life, J. Wayne Fears can help make your dream come true.

Here is the ultimate resource for finally turning your dream into reality. With photos, blueprints, and diagrams, Fears thoroughly covers the process of constructing the cabin you’ve always wanted. From buying land, construction materials, deciding on lighting, the water system, and on-site constructions—such as shooting ranges, an outhouse, or an outside fire ring—this is a book filled with nuggets of wisdom.

J. WAYNE FEARS is a wildlife biologist by training who has organized big-game hunting camps, guided canoe trips, and run commercial getaway operations. Former editor of Rural Sportsman magazine, he has written more than four thousand articles for major outdoors magazines. He built his own log cabin almost seventeen years ago and has been enjoying it ever since. He lives in Cross Creek Hallow, Alabama.

DOCTOR GOEBBELS

His Life and Death

A biography of the Nazi minister who showed the world the danger and power of propaganda.

Quite possibly the most dangerous and intelligent member of the Nazi hierarchy, Joseph Goebbels's flair for propaganda and spectacular organization ensured the Führer's rise to power. As founder of the Reich Chamber of Culture, gauleiter of Berlin, and architect of complex machinery of modern totalitarian propaganda, Goebbels is considered one of the most evil figures of the twentieth century. It was through his understanding of the instruments of “public enlightenment” that the dictatorship was built and maintained. Through interviews with his friends and family and with information from his own unpublished diary, a remarkable picture of Goebbels emerges.

Roger Manvell and Heinrich Fraenkel were both critically acclaimed authors who received access to new papers of eyewitness accounts of Joseph Goebbels. They also co-wrote Heinrich Himmler and The Men Who Tried to Kill Hitler (also available from Skyhorse).

Jack O'Connor

CLASSIC O’CONNOR

45 Worldwide Hunting Adventures

Classic Jack O’Connor stories that have never before appeared in book form.

To millions of Americans, Jack O’Connor still stands as a landmark figure in hunting and the shooting sports. And in Classic O’Connor, his loyal followers will discover a unique treasury of more than forty magazine articles that have never appeared in any book—until now. Join the legendary sportsman as he pursues the most revered wild game, from moose to tigers. Classic O’Connor also features several of the author’s greatest gun stories and a large selection of never-before-published photographs of O’Connor and his family on hunting adventures around the world. These “lost classics” of O’Connor’s day showcase his worldwide adventure and his unprecedented knowledge of hunting rifles and the outdoors.

Jack O’Connor (1902–1978) was the dean of outdoor writers from the 1930s through the 1950s. He wrote nine books on hunting and firearms and more than 1,200 articles for Outdoor Life.
Throughout his career, Harry Middleton contributed hundreds of stories, essays, and book reviews to some of the most respected periodicals, including the New York Times, Sports Illustrated, Gray’s Sporting Journal, Field & Stream, Country Journal, Smithsonian, and Sierra, among others. When he died in 1993, Middleton left behind a legacy rich with mountain streams, wild trout, and fishermen’s dreams.

In That Sweet Country is a fresh, exhilarating collection of a renowned fishing writer’s previously published works. A recognized name in outdoor writing, Middleton brings us inspiring selections such as “An Angler’s Lament” from Southern Living (1987), “Spring on the Miramichi” from The Flyfisher (1991), “A Haunting Obsession with Brown Trout” from the New York Times (1992), and many more. Readers who have loved Middleton’s work will cherish this compilation, while novice fishermen will gain a view of the world as Middleton saw it: “There are so few left, so few who believe the earth is enough.”

Harry Middleton earned his MA in history from Louisiana State University. He was a senior editor for Southern Living and wrote countless articles for periodicals such as the New York Times, Sports Illustrated, Smithsonian, Field & Stream, Gray’s Sporting Journal, and more. He authored five books about fly fishing. He died in 1993.

“Harry Middleton brings to fishing the lyric reverence of Roderick Haig-Brown, Thomas McGuane, or Russell Chatham.”
—Jim Harrison

“His warmly elegiac memoir shows that in the modern world, madness may be saner than sanity.”
—Los Angeles Times Book Review

“He left a legacy that demonstrated both his awareness of mortality and his appreciation of how fishing could momentarily stay it.”
—Fly Rod and Reel
The inspiring and amusing autobiography of the greatest trainer in boxing today, Freddie Roach.

The Wild Card is the inspiring and amusing autobiography of boxing’s greatest trainer, Freddie Roach: an ex-pug living with Parkinson's, the most famous white man in the Philippines, a formidable street fighter, and a millionaire who slept for years in a makeshift apartment within his Los Angeles gym, The Wild Card.

The Wild Card begins with tales of Roach’s abusive youth, his own boxing career, and his apprenticeship under legendary trainer Eddie Futch (trainer of Joe Frazier) before moving on to his courageous battle against Parkinson's disease, his relationship with Hollywood celebrities (Mickey Rourke, Mark Wahlberg), and his rise to the top of his profession training world champions like Mike Tyson; Oscar De La Hoya; Michael Moorer; Bernard Hopkins; Wladimir Klitchko; James Toney; and his prized pupil, the pound-for-pound #1 fighter in the world, Manny Pacquiao.

Freddie Roach is the #1 trainer in boxing today, having been named trainer of the year by the Boxing Writers Association of America in 2003, 2006, and 2008. A former professional fighter himself, he currently trains light welterweight world champion Manny Pacquiao, who is widely regarded as the best pound-for-pound fighter in the world. Other champion boxers Roach has trained include Mike Tyson, Oscar De La Hoya, Bernard Hopkins, and James Toney. He is a 2007 inductee of the World Boxing Hall of Fame and makes his home in Los Angeles, California.

Peter Owen Nelson is a writer whose work has appeared in Vanity Fair, Harper’s, The Believer, McSweeney’s, and other publications. He also serves as a writer for HBO Sports’s groundbreaking series, 24/7. He lives in Los Angeles, California.

Manny Pacquiao is the IBO light welterweight champion and considered the best pound-for-pound boxer/fighter today.
An addictive read that is sure to spark conversation wherever baseball is spoken, The Baseball Maniac's Almanac is part reference, part trivia, part brain teaser, and absolutely the greatest, most unusual, and thorough compendium of baseball stats and facts ever compiled—all verified for accuracy by the Baseball Hall of Fame. In its pages, renowned sportswriter Bert Randolph Sugar presents thousands of fascinating lists, tables, data, and stimulating facts about:

- Individual players and teams
- Managers
- Player relatives
- The Hall of Fame
- Annual awards
- The World Series
- All-Star Games

The book also contains a list of the all-time statistical leaders for every major league team as well as a truly unforgettable miscellaneous section that answers such mind-boggling questions as, “Which major-leaguers have palindromic surnames?” and “Which players born under each zodiac sign have hit the most career home runs?”

Bert Randolph Sugar is one of the most recognized sportswriters in history. The former editor of The Ring and Fight Game magazines, he has made numerous appearances on television and in feature films. Over the course of his fifty-plus-year career, he has authored over a dozen books on baseball, and his knowledge of our national pastime is encyclopedic. He lives in Chappaqua, New York.

“Being a baseball maniac is a condition which cannot be cured—it can only be treated. So take two chapters of Bert Sugar’s book, and then call him in the morning.”
—Bob Costas

The secrets to leading a progressive life—and why that’s a good thing.

There are hundreds of ways to lead a more environmentally friendly, socially conscious, and liberally minded life—ways that can even be enjoyable. What readers will find in this friendly inclusive book are simple steps, lifestyle adjustments, and ideas that entertain:

- Watching MSNBC instead of Fox News
- Powering a laptop with a solar–power–generating backpack
- Wearing the flag with pride
- Progressive financial investment
- Where and how to find a like-minded mate
- Supporting liberal businesses
- Embracing a political conversation with a relative rather than avoiding it
- Bringing independent films to the local movie theater
- Start a Drinking Liberally chapter and try some of the group’s signature drinks
- Discover how television-watching habits shape the media landscape

Justin Krebs explains that being liberal, or progressive, isn’t only a political act—it’s a lifestyle that’s suited to our changing America.

Justin Krebs co-founded and serves as an executive director of Living Liberally, a national network of social gatherings around progressive politics. He is one of the founding directors of the non-profit venue, The Tank, in Manhattan, and a contributor to the progressive blog, OpenLeft. His work as a political entrepreneur and organizer has included managing a citywide advocacy campaign, writing a history of New York City’s playgrounds, and serving in the office of U.S. Senator Hillary Rodham Clinton. He’s a New Jersey native and lives in New York City.

HOLLYWOOD HELLRAISERS
The Wild Lives and Fast Times of Marlon Brando, Dennis Hopper, Warren Beatty, and Jack Nicholson

In his follow-up to the acclaimed Hellraisers, Sellers traces the intertwining lives and careers of four outrageous Hollywood movie mavericks.

“I don’t know what people expect when they meet me. They seem to be afraid that I’m going to piss in the potted palm and slap them on the ass.”
—Marlon Brando

“I should have been dead ten times over. I believe in miracles. It’s an absolute miracle that I’m still around.”
—Dennis Hopper

“You only lie to two people in your life: your girlfriend and the police.”
—Jack Nicholson

“The best time to get married is noon. That way, if things don’t work out, you haven’t blown the whole day.”
—Warren Beatty

They’re the baddest bad-asses Hollywood as ever seen: Marlon Brando, Dennis Hopper, Warren Beatty, and Jack Nicholson. They are men to whom rules did not apply; normal standards of behavior were simply too wearisome to worry about. These are men who brawled, boozed, snorted, and screwed their way into legend—hood—but along the way they changed acting and the way movies were made forever. Hollywood Hellraisers is a whistle-stop tour of jaw-dropping sexual activity, misbehavior of an Olympic standard, all-out excess, and genuine madness. It’s a wonder Hollywood survived.

Robert Sellers is a former stand-up comedian and the author of the biographies of Sting; Tom Cruise; Sean Connery; and the definitive book on the Pythons, Always Look on the Bright Side of Life.
How far would you go? Based on the controversial real story of a woman in search of a sugar daddy, Holly Hill (pseudonym) gave up her job at the behest of her wealthy boyfriend—and then found herself dumped and penniless. After spending six weeks in bed pining for her lost love, she was encouraged by a friend to be “open-minded” about her career choices—and ended up placing an online ad for a sugar daddy: “I LOVE sex and there’s not much I don’t enjoy . . .” She received an overwhelming response from all sorts of men (her ad got eleven thousand hits) but most of them were married men whose wives had lost interest in sex. As Holly interviewed the men and settled on a candidate, she decided to record what happened next. These almost-daily observations became a journal documenting Holly’s extraordinary experiences—not just about the men she met, but the things she found out about marriages, and in particular, what men need from them.

Sugarbabe is her account of the e-mails and encounters with the applicants for the role, and the five men she eventually chooses (not all at the same time). It is by turns funny, enlightening, challenging, and thought-provoking.

Holly Hill was born and raised in regional Australia before moving to inner-city Sydney in 1989. She worked as a journalist before moving into public relations and corporate communications. She is the author of Sugarbabe and its follow-up, Toyboy. She lives in Sydney, Australia.
Before The Road by Cormac McCarthy brought apocalyptic fiction into the mainstream, there was science fiction. No longer relegated to the fringes of literature, this explosive collection of the world’s best apocalyptic writers brings the inventors of alien invasions, devastating meteors, doomsday scenarios, and all-out nuclear war back to the bookstores with a bang.

The best writers of the early 1900s were the first to flood New York with tidal waves, destroy Illinois with alien invaders, paralyze Washington with meteors, and lay waste to the Midwest with nuclear fallout. Now collected for the first time ever in one apocalyptic volume are those early doomsday writers and their contemporaries, including Neil Gaiman, Orson Scott Card, Lucius Shepard, Robert Sheckley, Norman Spinrad, Arthur C. Clarke, William F. Nolan, Poul Anderson, Fredric Brown, Lester del Rey, and more. Relive these childhood classics or discover them here for the first time. Each story details the eerie political, social, and environmental destruction of our world.

A fascinating collection of fiction-turned-reality tales. Long before movies like Minority Report and The Matrix, the world’s writers have been recording the future as it might exist—and as it turns out, they were right. This bizarre anthology collects the most stunning predictions and imagined inventions here for the first time. Visions of Tomorrow includes “The Land Iron Clads” by H. G. Wells, who described a military tank in 1903—long before it was ever a possibility; “The Yesterday House” by Fritz Leiber, who writes about cloned humans; “Reason” by Isaac Asimov, who predicted solar power could be harnessed by satellites; and many more.

In this stunning anthology of never-before-collected stories, our world’s greatest science fiction writers demonstrate that the truth can be just as strange as fiction.

VOYAGE OF THE DAMNED

A Shocking True Story of Hope, Betrayal, and Nazi Terror

"An extraordinary human document and a suspense story that is hard to put down." —The New York Times

In May 1939, the SS St. Louis set sail from Hamburg carrying 937 German Jews seeking asylum from Nazi persecution. Unknown to the captain, the ship was merely a pawn of Nazi propaganda. Among the crew were members of the dreaded Gestapo, and the steward himself was on a mission for the SS. Made into an Academy Award–winning film in 1976, Voyage of the Damned is the gripping, day-by-day account of how those refugees on board the liner struggled to survive.

GORDON THOMAS is a bestselling author of forty books published worldwide, including Gideon's Spies and Secrets and Lies. He lives in Ireland.

MAX MORGAN-WITTTS was a television producer, director, and documentary filmmaker before becoming the author of more than ten books. He lives in London.

THE NUREMBERG TRIAL

"Fascinating. . . . The Tusas' book is one of the best accounts I have read." —The New York Times

Here is a gripping account of the major postwar trial of the Nazi hierarchy in World War II. The Nuremberg Trial brilliantly recreates the trial proceedings and offers a reasoned, often profound examination of the processes that created international law. From the whimpering of Kaltenbrunner and Ribbentrop on the stand to the icy coolness of Goering, each participant is vividly drawn. Includes twenty-four photographs of the key players as well as extensive references, sources, biographies, and an index.

Chances are you don’t remember what you said when you were high, which is a shame, because it was probably incredibly deep and enlightening (or possibly dumb and incriminating, but we’ll give you the benefit of the doubt). Fortunately, the guy sitting in the corner was scribbling your brilliant words on napkins and texting them to Magnolia Johnson for posterity:

“You have friends in high places. I just have high friends.”

“Why doesn’t Tarzan have a beard?”

“Make me unweird.”

“Violence is never the answer, man. Unless the question is ‘what is never the answer?”

“You know what would make a great book, man? The history of tits.”

“No matter how long you live, you’re dead a lot longer.”

In the spirit of Things Drunk People Say, the stumbling, intriguing, non-sensical but hilarious words are enhanced with creative, original art and published for the world to see (don’t worry, the quotes are listed anonymously). You’ll laugh, you’ll cry, you’ll wonder why the hell you’re ever sober when you’re clearly much more interesting when you’re stoned. Why didn’t anyone think of this before?

Magnolia Johnson is a freelance writer with an interest in her- bology. She lives in Eureka, California.
Picking up where she left off in Where the Blind Horse Sings, Kathy Stevens regales us with more tales of the rescued animals at Catskill Animal Sanctuary (CAS), some touching, some hilarious, all provocative. We meet Barbie, the broiler hen found hiding under a blue Honda in Brooklyn who falls for the animal ambassador Rambo, a ram with an uncanny sense of what others need. Then there’s Norma Rae, the turkey rescued from a “turkey bowl” just before Thanksgiving. There’s also Noah, a twenty-one-year-old stallion, starved and locked in a dark stall for his entire life until he came to the safety and plenty of CAS. Claude, the giant pink free-range pig, is but another of the “underfoot family,” those who roam the barnyard, free and with dignity, interacting with their own and other species in startling and profound ways.

The love Stevens has for these animals, and the amount of love they give her in return, is stunning and will make any reader more thoughtful of how we treat a whole class of animals in this country. Pigs, cows, chickens, turkeys, horses, goats, sheep, and more, march into CAS and into our hearts as we learn about their quirks and personalities and what makes us human.

Giving up a thriving eleven-year teaching career, Kathy Stevens bought a disastrously rundown farm on a vast number of acres, and with sheer determination, boundless compassion, and limited funds, turned it into an acclaimed haven for abused livestock, the Catskills Animal Sanctuary. In her first book, Where the Blind Horse Sings, Stevens presents the heartening story of the difficult work that has gone into saving more than 1,100 lives since the sanctuary’s 2001 founding. Stevens lives in Saugerties, New York.

The Joy of Keeping a Root Cellar
The Ultimate Guide to Putting Food By

A comprehensive, full-color guide to root cellaring—storing vegetables, meat, and more.

The winning team behind The Joy of Keeping Chickens returns, this time with a complete guide to building and maintaining a root cellar—even if it’s just a dark and cool closet. This cheap, easy, energy-saving way will keep the harvest fresh all year long. Here, readers will learn:

- Which fruits and vegetables store best
- How to build a root cellar in the country, suburbs, or city
- How to deal with specific environmental challenges
- Storage techniques ranging from canning to pickling and smoking to drying
- Recipes for everything from tomato sauce to venison jerky

Root cellaring isn’t just for off-the-grid types or farmers with large gardens. Storing food makes good sense, both financially and environmentally. And root cellars can easily fit anywhere. In this intelligent, convincing book, authors Megyesi and Hansen show how to make them part of every reader’s life.

Jennifer Megyesi and her husband own and run the Fat Rooster Farm in Vermont. She holds a master’s degree in wildlife biology and has worked for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. She lives on the farm with her husband and son in Royalton, Vermont.

The Dutch oven is the one cooking pot that does it all: bakes bread, steams vegetables, boils seafood, fries eggs, stews wild game, and broils meat. Dutch ovens produce great-tasting food with a small amount of effort and a lot of fun. From the differences between aluminum and cast-iron ovens to care and cleaning of ovens to useful accessories, this comprehensive guide includes a wide range of useful information that will appeal to new and seasoned Dutch oven cooks alike. Learn how a Dutch oven is made, what to look for when purchasing one, and how to season it properly before using it.

Follow simple recipes to make:

- Cowboy biscuits
- Cornbread
- Stews and soups
- Chili
- Baked salmon
- Hearty meatloaf
- Peach cobbler
- French coconut pie
- Apple pie
- And more!

Whether you're camping or throwing a party for friends, Dutch ovens will make cooking simple, unique, and enjoyable.

J. Wayne Fears is the author of four outdoor cookbooks and is a member of the International Dutch Oven Society. He has served as a judge at many cook-offs, including the National Cornbread Cook-off. An accomplished writer and skilled outdoorsman, Fears has authored more than twenty books on a variety of outdoor subjects and more than 3,500 magazine articles. He lives in Heflin, Alabama.
A result of twelve years of research, The Modern Day Gunslinger was written to meet the needs of the gun owner, the experienced shooter, those who own a weapon strictly for home and self-defense, and for the military member who wants to become a better shooter in defense of our country. It’s also for the law enforcement officer who risks his or her life going against the thugs of our society, and for anyone interested in learning the defensive and tactical training techniques from some of the best and most experienced shooters in the world.

The shooting skills taught in this book carry broad application in civilian, law enforcement, and military contexts. Common criminals, terrorists, assailants—the enemy and threat—all will find themselves outgunned in the face of a properly armed and trained gunslinger. Members of the armed services, government and law enforcement agencies, as well as civilians, will find that the close-range shooting methods addressed in this book can provide a decisive advantage. An all-encompassing manual that addresses safety, equipment, tactics, and the best practices for all shooters, The Modern Day Gunslinger is the most all-encompassing book on shooting ever published. It’s a book that, in the words of senior special agent and U.S. government senior weapons and tactics instructor Dick Conger, “will save lives.”

Don Mann’s impressive military biography includes being a decorated combat veteran; Corpsman; SEAL Special Operations Technician; jungle survival, desert survival, and arctic survival instructor; small arms weapons instructor, foreign weapons instructor, armed and unarmed defense tactics, advanced hand-to-hand combat instructor; and Survival, Evade, Resistance and Escape Instructor; in addition to other credentials. SWEDISH FAIRYTALES

Children’s tales to charm and beguile.

Wicked magicians, angry trolls, mysterious elves, and nimble gnomes are just a few of the characters that make up this charming collection of twenty-nine Swedish fairytales. Tales of knights in search of princesses, forest creatures frequenting caverns, and wish-granting fairies are told in the spirit of tradition and imagination in this anthology. The enchanted world of fairytales that generations of Americans have come to know and love has come to include Swedish favorites: The Seven Wishes, The Giant Who Slept for Ten Thousand Years, The Changelings, and many more. Spellbinding art by Sweden’s greatest fairytale illustrator, John Bauer, brings these folktales to life.

HOLGER LUNDBERGH has published numerous articles and a book of poetry, as well as translations from Swedish, Danish, and Norwegian. He lives in Sweden.

JOHN BAUER illustrated the work of nearly all well-known Swedish story-tellers, many of whom appear in this book. He died at the age of thirty-six in 1918.

Cooper’s Creek

Tragedy and Adventure in the Australian Outback

“A fascinating well-told tale of heroism and adventure, told by a master of the craft.” —Harper’s

In 1860, an expedition set out from Melbourne, Australia, into the interior of the country, with the mission to find a route to the northern coast. Headed by Robert O’Hara Burke and William John Wills, the party of adventurers, scientists, and camels set out into the outback hoping to find enough water and to keep adequate food stores for their trek into the bush. Almost one year later, Burke, Wills, and two others from their party, Gray and King, reached the northern shore but on their journey back, they were stranded at Cooper’s Creek where all but King perished. Cooper’s Creek is a gripping, intense historical narrative about the harshness of the Australian outback and the people who were brave enough to go into the very depths of that uncharted country.

ALAN MOOREHEAD was born in 1910 in Melbourne, Australia, and served as a foreign correspondent, winning international recognition for his reporting during WWII. Moorehead was the author of The White Nile, The Blue Nile, and more than twenty other books. He passed away in 1983.

Department of the Army

U.S. ARMY EXPLOSIVES AND DEMOLITIONS HANDBOOK

The official army handbook, now available to everyone.

Military demolitions are the destruction by fire, water, explosive, and mechanical means of areas, structures, facilities, or materials to accomplish a military objective. The U.S. Army Explosives and Demolitions Handbook is a guide to the use of explosives in the destruction of military obstacles from the Department of the U.S. Army. This guide includes information on types, characteristics, and uses of explosives and auxiliary equipment; preparation, placement, and firing of charges; safety precautions; handling, transportation, and storage of explosives; deliberate and hasty demolition methods; and much more.

Applicable to nuclear and nonnuclear warfare, and having offensive and defensive uses, the knowledge one will come away with from reading this handbook is invaluable.

The Department of the Army is headquartered at the Pentagon in Arlington, Virginia, and also authors U.S. Army Special Forces Handbook and U.S. Army Hand-to-Hand Combat.
REINING IN THE IMPERIAL PRESIDENCY

Proof—in black and white—that George W. Bush and his administration abused our constitutional system.

Through transcripts, memos, and analysis, Representative John C. Conyers, Jr. and the House Judiciary Committee reveal how the Bush administration again and again assumed more power than the Constitution allows, and circumvented the traditional checks and balances of our system. From ignoring laws that forbid torturing, to determining that the president himself—not the courts—can decide the reach of the law, to using creative counselors to recast the statutory law or the Constitution itself, the administration's approach to power was, at its core, little more than a restatement of Richard Nixon's famous rationalization of presidential misdeeds: “When the president does it, that means it’s not illegal.”

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN C. CONYERS, JR. has been elected to Congress twenty-one times by his district in Michigan. He is Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Captain S. Payne Best
Introduction by Nigel Jones

THE VENLO INCIDENT
A True Story of Double-Dealing, Captivity, and a Murderous Nazi Plot

An incredible, rare glimpse into the inner world of Nazi espionage.

On November 9, 1939, Captain Sigismund Payne Best and other members of Britain’s ultra-secret Z service sat near a café in Venlo, the Netherlands, waiting to meet with German resistance leaders. What they would meet at Venlo was an SS ambush. Best survived Venlo to tell of the shocking intelligence coups that precipitated the attack. His account of torture at the hands of the Nazis and five years in the Sachenhausen and Dachau concentration camps offers unparalleled, first-hand details from inside the Third Reich.

CAPTAIN S. PAYNE BEST was an MI6 agent and the head of the top secret Z organization in the Netherlands during World War II. Captured by Nazis following a disinformation trap. He died in Britain in 1978.

NIGEL JONES is an award-winning author, BBC radio broadcaster, and journalist.

THE QUOTABLE LAWYER

litigant n. A person about to give up his skin for the hope of retaining his bones. —Ambrose Bierce

The legal system and the lawyers who operate in (and around) it have influenced society and continue to do so today. In this age of the slip-and-fall, “false” advertising, and medical “malpractice,” it’s clear that the quest for justice has not always been easy—it’s also been hilarious, poignant, enlightening, and scandalous. Words from renowned lawyers, not-so-renowned lawyers, judges, authors, politicians, philosophers, and preachers make up this collection of over five hundred memorable, bite-sized quotations about the lives of lawyers; the law; landmark cases; and quips, jokes, and humorous sayings.

“The life of the law has not been logic; it has been experience.” —U.S. Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr.

“The law does not pretend to punish everything that is dishonest. That would seriously interfere with business.” —Clarence Darrow

A RIVER NEVER SLEEPS

“One of the 20th century’s most gifted angling writers.”
—The New York Times

Few books have captured the haunting world of music and rivers and of the sport they provide as A River Never Sleeps. Roderick L. Haig-Brown writes of fishing not just as a sport, but also as an art. He knows moving water and the life within it—its subtlest mysteries and perpetual delights. He is a man who knows fish lore, and the legends and history of a great sport as few people ever will. Month by month, he takes you from river to river, down at last to the saltwater and the sea: in January, searching for the steelhead in the dark, cold water; in May, fishing for bright, sea-run cutthroats; and on to the chilly days of October and the majestic run of spawning salmon. All the great joy of angling is here.

Roderick L. Haig-Brown was born in England and lived most of his life on Vancouver Island, Canada along the banks of the Campbell River. He died in 1976.

AIRCRAFT INSPECTION AND REPAIR

Acceptable Methods, Techniques, and Practices

The official FAA guide to maintenance methods, techniques, and practices—essential for all pilots and aircraft maintenance workers.

When no manufacturer repair or maintenance instructions are available, the Federal Aviation Administration deems Aircraft Inspection and Repair the one-stop guide to all elements of maintenance: preventive, rebuilding, and alteration. With detailed information on structural inspection, protection, and repair, including aircraft systems, hardware, fuel and engines, and electrical systems, this comprehensive guide is designed to leave no vital question on inspection and repair unanswered. This is a book that should be available to everyone who works on aircraft or is training to do so.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was established in 1958. It also authors the Airplane Flying Handbook and The Federal Aviation Regulations/Aeronautical Information Manual.

U.S. ARMY GUIDE TO BOOBYTRAPS

The official army guide to improvised explosive devices.

Nothing is more dangerous to U.S. forces fighting insurgents in hot spots around the world than improvised explosive devices. It’s the weapon of choice for underfunded forces aimed to attack American soldiers with low risk to themselves. This official U.S. manual is the complete guide to using and dismantling boobytraps.

Here you can learn how to assemble, use, detect, and remove boobytraps and demolition items in almost any situation. With intricate and detailed diagrams, you’ll discover how army troops can disguise boobytraps in household items such as irons, teapots, and televisions; in structures such as window frames, stairways, and wooden beams; and in outdoor areas, in bushes and underground. Any military enthusiast will appreciate the level of detail this field manual offers.
