ON THE TRAIL OF BAROLO

Picture yourself in the background of a grand medieval mural, and you won't be far off from what you experience driving through the idyllic wooded landscape south of Turin, in Piedmont's Langhe district.

The crests of the graceful hills are dotted with villages, each lorded over by an ancient castle. The gentle slopes of the valleys below are lined with row upon row of Nebbiolo grapes, the choicest of which are used to make Barolo wine. Dubbed "the king of wines and wine of kings" in the 19th century after finding favor with King Carlo Alberto, Barolo still wears the crown, despite stiff

The Langhe district is smaller and surprisingly less visited by food-and-wine enthusiasts than Chianti and the surrounding areas of Tuscany, but it yields similar rewards. The best way to tour the Barolo-producing region is on day trips from the delightful truffle town of Alba—getting around is easy, the country roads are gorgeous, and the wine is fit for a king.

4 IN FOCUS: THE SISTINE CEILING

AGONY AND ECSTASY: THE SISTINE CEILING

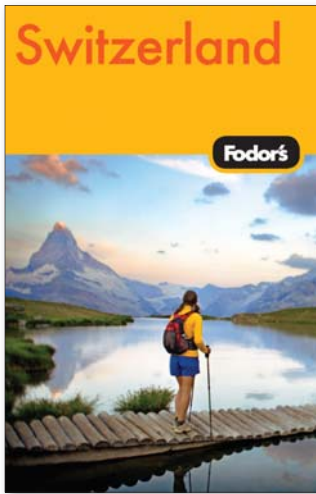

Farming lines that are probably longer than those waiting to pass through the Pearly Gates, hordes of visitors arrive at the Sistine Chapel daily to view what may be the world's most sublime example of artistry:

Michelangelo: The Creation of Adam, Sistine Chapel, the Vatican, circa 1511.

Michelangelo's Sistine Ceiling. To paint this 12,000-square-foot barrel vault, it took four years, 343 frescoed figures, and a titanic battle of wits between the artist and Pope Julius II. While in its typical fashion, Hollywood focused on the element of agony, not ecstasy, involved in the saga of creation, a recently completed restoration of the ceiling has revolutionized our appreciation of the masterpiece of masterpieces.

Compass American Guides: Alaska's Inside Passage

Ann Chandonnet

Alaska is the world's third most popular cruise destination, attracting about one million cruise ship passengers a year. While other guides offer recommendations on where to stay and what to see, none combine that practical information with the depth and literary quality of a Compass American Guide.

In this thoroughly readable book, travelers, locals, and armchair travelers alike will find a mix of stunning color photos, sightseeing scoops, historical background, fun FAQs, and evocative, inspiring descriptions of this breathtaking region. Following the route of a fantasy cruise from south (Ketchikan) to north (Sitka), the guide takes readers through all the incredible attractions, including Glacier Bay National Park, Ketchikan's totem poles, and Skagway's historic Gold Rush District. The guide also includes favorite places to eat and shop in each town, and tips on everything from animal-watching to packing the right gear.

Writer Ann Chandonnet lived in Alaska for more than 30 years and is the author of more than a dozen books, including The Alaska Heritage Seafood Cookbook, and Alaska's Arts, Crafts & Collectibles. Photographer Don Pitcher spent 15 summers in the wilds of Alaska and Wyoming and now works as a photographer and travel writer, basing his travels from Homer, Alaska.

Andrew Brody

The LSAT is a key element of admission into law school, and the difficult logic games section of the test often trips students up. Games are long, complicated, and intricate and require good strategy and the test-taker's full attention. The games section is also the most teachable, and armed with the knowledge of how to diagram and dissect them, students can beat each game easily.

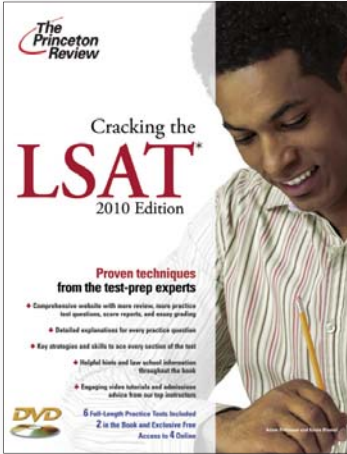

LSAT Logic Games Workout contains approximately 300 practice questions to accompany 50 practice LSAT logic games. It includes complete answer explanations for every practice question.

Fast Facts

- LSAT = Law School Admission Test
- The LSAT is given in February, June, September, and December

Andrew Brody has taught and tutored the LSAT since 2001. In 2006, Andrew created the popular Princeton Review podcast series "LSAT Logic in Everyday Life," chosen by iTunes as one of the Best Podcasts of 2006.

That's why the experts at the Princeton Review are taking matters into their own hands. Guidance for Getting In tells students everything they need to know about the college admissions process. Arranged in sections by grade and topic, it is based on a survey of over 200 high school guidance counselors. The narrative is driven by quotes from top counselors and includes advice on:

- Academics
- Extra-curriculars
- Standardized tests
- Putting together a college application
- Financial aid

Whether a student needs extra help deciding which sports to participate in, whether to join the band, whether to take AP classes, which scholarships to try for, or just staying calm during the admissions process, Guidance for Getting In provides key answers and advice.
